

LAUNCH : LOCAL-GLOBAL JOURNAL EDITION ON TIMOR-LESTE

WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 7, 2012 , AT 5PM

'TRAVERSING CUSTOMARY COMMUNITY AND MODERN NATION-FORMATION IN TIMOR-LESTE'

Edited by Damian Grenfell, published by The Globalism Research Centre at RMIT University.

This journal edition comprises 17 essays on the key themes of customary society and nation-formation in contemporary Timor-Leste, including short articles, reviewed essays and a special section on local governance by academics from the National University of East Timor.

The Journal will be launched by Dr Anne Brown, School of Political Science and International Studies, University of Queensland.

On the evening, the report 'Local Perspectives on Political Decision-Making in Timor-Leste' will also be launched, and there will be information on Matadalan Ba Malu, a community based English Language Program for East Timorese Women. There will be fundraising activities for Matadalan ba Malu, including a raffle for some of the finest produce provided by the generous store holders in the Yarra Valley region. There will also be other journals and reports available from the Timor-Leste Program and the Globalism Research Centre.
