

The Pacific Climate Warriors

A Night with the Pacific Climate Warriors

Tuesday, October 21st 6pm Hayden Allen Tank, ANU

This October, 30 Pacific Climate Warriors will journey to Australia. They bring with them an important message: 'the Australian fossil fuel industry, with the support of our governments and big lenders, are planning to build gigantic new coal mines that would double Australia's coal exports. This fuels climate change, it fuels the destruction of Pacific.'

On Tuesday, October 21st, two of these warriors – Issu Nihmei from Vanuatu, and Viemwa Boraoi from Kiribati – will share with us their first hand experiences on climate change in their home nations, and their thoughts on the rest of the world's role moving forward.

Join us at 6pm at the Hayden Allen Tank for these inspiring talks, followed by an evening of food, music, discussion, and climate change videos from around the Pacific

This event is brought to you as a collaboration between 350.org, Pasifika Student Society and the Micronesian & Australian Friends Association (MAFA).

Tickets (free) are recommended to ensure your seat at the event, and to help us organise food. Registration can be found here.
