

Echoes of Cook

Ambitious Aims, World-changing Consequences

Saturday 22 September, 9am–4.30pm

A seminar exploring the legacy and inevitable controversy of Cook and his voyages, in conjunction with the exhibition Cook and the Pacific.

Time	Speaker	Topic
9–9.15am	Dr Marie-Louise Ayres Director-General National Library of Australia	Welcome to the National Library of Australia
	Tyronne Bell Thunderstone Aboriginal Cultural and Land Management Services	Welcome to Country
9.15–10.15am	Laura Walker Co-curator of James Cook: The Voyages The British Library	An outline of the British Library's James Cook and Joseph Banks collections, including highlights relating to Australia and a brief look at the recent James Cook: The Voyages exhibition. (10 mins)
	Andrea Hart Head of Special Collections, Library & Archives Natural History Museum, London	Penguins, Parkinson and the Pacific: the natural history artists and their artwork from Cook's voyages held at the Natural History Museum, London. (10 mins)
	Emilie Cloos Conservator The National Archives (UK)	Investigating Captain Cook's journeys in the Pacific: conservation science at The National Archives, London. (10 mins)
	Nirmala Balram Conservator Ethnographic Objects and Sculpture Museum of New Zealand, Te Papa Tongarewa	Unlocking the treasures within collections at Te Papa: conservation approach to taonga (Maori and Pacific treasures). (10 mins)
	Mark Sykes Maori Registrar Museum of New Zealand, Te Papa Tongarewa	A Maori perspective on couriering taonga from Te Papa Tongarewa to the National Library of Australia. (10 mins)
	Dr Susannah Helman Co-curator of Cook and the Pacific National Library of Australia	Many options, one exhibition: highlights from the National Library of Australia's collections in Cook and the Pacific . (10 mins)
10.15–10.45am	Dr Martin Woods Co-curator of Cook and the Pacific National Library of Australia	Martin Woods leads a panel discussion between curators and couriers about the Cook and the Pacific exhibition, the objects within, Cook's voyages and Cook himself.
10.45–11.15am	Morning tea break
11.15am–12.30pm	Shane Carriage and Victor Channell Ulladulla Aboriginal Land Council Alberta Hornsby and Loretta Sullivan Endeavour River Stella Pahulu Naimet ACT Tongan Language and Cultural School Manutuufanga Naufahu Canberra Oceania Cultural Centre Toa Fulivai Takiari Canberra Oceania Community Alliance Rae Johnston Editor of Gizmodo Australia , producer and host of Static Podcast and host of That Startup Show .	A panel of First Nations voices discusses the continuing impact of Cook and his voyages on First Nations peoples today. The panel will be facilitated by Wiradjuri woman and media personality Rae Johnston.
12.30–1.30pm	Lunch break
1.30–2.15pm	John Robson Map Librarian University of Waikato	A Chain of Surveyors: Cook to Stokes
2.15–3pm	Michel Tuffery Polynesian artist	Mapping the collaboration and interaction on first contact between Tupaia and Cook, his crew, the scientists and artists.
3–3.30pm	Afternoon tea break
3.30–4.30pm	Professor John Maynard Director Purai Global Indigenous and Diaspora Research Studies Centre University of Newcastle	James Cook: An Aboriginal Perspective