Aims & Scope

An international, peer-reviewed journal embracing all aspects of Quaternary Science

Past Climate Change

Palaeo-data & model-based reconstructions of Quaternary climatic variability and abrupt events

Humans & Biosphere

Evolution and diversity of humans and their ecological environment during the Quaternary

Stratigraphy & Geochronology

Study of the Quaternary Period through stratigraphical and geochronological methods

Surface & Tectonic Processes

Quaternary records of geohazards and their relationships with environment and humans

Novel Analytical Tools

Physics, chemistry, biology or computer science-based innovative methods applied to Quaternary science
